Form Handler and Autoresponder

<http://www.Progressivesoft.com>

pssForm is a feature rich form handler and autoresponder for capturing multipart form data and sending the contents or the contents with the HTML Form. pssForm improves file saving and form printing flexibility. You control the output of everything. Each form on your web site can be handled differently with unique addressees and autoresponding text. pssForm protects your server data and email addresses because they don't get entered in the HTML source. pssForm does it all.

pssForm captures form data and sends the contents with or without the associated the HTML Form. You create form templates, header and footer templates, and the confirm message text. Configure how pssForm is to handle each form using a simple text-based configuration file. Place the form templates and confirm messages on your web site and create links to the pssForm application on your web pages. Then pssForm emails the completed forms to the designated mailbox and returns the autoresponse to the user.
